Update on Chris' and Jane

Jane was admitted to St. Luke's Hospice yesterday - in part for assessment. She is very poorly and with little or no appetite. Chris' is able to visit once a day - timed slots, as St. Luke's itself puts in measures to cope with the Coronavirus issues. Please pray for both Chris' and Jane at this tough time.

A Devotion from Graham:

Hello everyone,

One of the good things about the present situation is that it's given me more time to keep on with my daily Greek studies in the New Testament. My online tutor (from America) pointed out an interesting and important grammatical point from 1 Corinthians 15: 3-4, where Paul speaks with authority about the resurrection of Jesus. This is the passage that speaks about Jesus dying, being buried and then being raised.

The interesting thing is that the tense in Greek for "died" and "was buried" is different from the tense used for "was raised". For the first two it's a simple past tense, a one-off occurrence, Jesus died once and he was buried once.

But then the different tense used for Jesus being raised suggests not simply a one-off, but an ongoing state and also an ongoing relevance. Jesus was raised and he lives. His life continues and his resurrection stands for all time. And that matters to you and to me in all the circumstances in which we find ourselves both now and in whatever the future brings.

Jesus died, he was buried and he was raised, then, now and always.

God bless,

Graham

Message from Richard Wilshaw

Dear All,

This week's up-date from the Methodist Church Media Office provides some interesting points to ponder on. (You can access it by holding down the Ctrl key and clicking on web address below)

<https://methodist-news.org.uk/BVI-6U11R-F74RFWJG65/cr.aspx>

Thoughts and prayers are especially with Chris' and Jane but also with all at Millhouses; forgive me if I've missed phoning anyone but you are all in my thoughts and prayers.

Keep in touch, Janet & I are OK, just doing as we're told and 'behaving' ourselves!

Every blessing to you all,

Richard

How Barry is passing the time!

More to follow!

Millhouses Community Choir

Millhouses Community Choir (MCC) has been meeting every Tuesday at the church (with the usual 'resting' gaps in August and over Christmas) since the start of 2013.

I'd been running another choir since 2001 (The Sheffield Folk Chorale) where most of the material was linked directly to traditional folk song - an interest I've had all my life.

However, 7 years ago I thought it would be fun to set up a community choir where there was no need for auditions and which featured a broad mix of songs.

The MCC repertoire generally consists of popular songs from between 1930-2000, with a healthy dollop of some of the more accessible and well-known folk songs. I do all the arrangements and try to respond where possible to particular requests from members.

The material isn't particularly complicated - but the arrangements always feature 3 or 4-part harmony. It's amazing how much progress has been made by members since those early days. They learn new songs in half the time now!

There's a strong sense of community and good supportive attitude in the choir and, although the emphasis is on the simple enjoyment of singing, we work quite hard to get the songs up to a good standard.

Although started as a non-performance group, we were soon taking part in our very first concert. This gave us a taste for 'strutting our stuff' and, for the first few years, we put on a summer and a winter event. Over the last couple of years the pressure of running two choirs has started to take its toll on me, with the result that I've had to cut out doing MCC concerts altogether. I know several members miss this aspect of the choir.

Of course, with the arrival of Covid-19, I've been forced to close down both choirs. MCC has had to take the biggest single break since its inception. It's something I really miss - and I know many of the members do too. Hopefully we'll be back at the church singing our hearts out very soon. However, it's pointless trying to prophecy a possible date for returning. I just hope all the members are still practising at home!

A Prayer for Today from "500 Prayers for all Occasions" suggested by David.

Here's one appropriate to where we are all today!

Father, when we see a lost and troubled world, and when we are aware of the sadness, sorrow and pain all around us, we pray, send your word of hope, love and joy to bring an end to guilt and fear and suffering.

Lord, in your mercy,

hear our prayer.

Father, open our eyes that, like the prophets of old,
we may become more aware of your glory and your power surrounding us on every side.

We pray, save us from despair,

fill us with courage,

join our wills to yours and make us channels of your grace and messengers of your word in all we say and do and are.

Lord, in your mercy,

hear our prayer.

Father, we pray for your church.

There are times when we lose our way and are in danger of losing our Assure us of the height, depth, length and breadth of your love. By your Holy Spirit, save us from despair, fill us with your power and be present with us and for us for ever.

Lord in your mercy,

Hear our prayers

In the name of Christ, God's word to a lost and hurting world.

Amen

Misplaced Pride! How authors get paid & a lesson in being brought down to earth by David!

Some 25 years ago I wrote or edited 3 books to do with Construction or Transportation. (I'd tell you all their titles but fear that might be enough to deter you from reading this further - one will surely suffice: "Integrated Transport & Land Use Planning"!)

Subsequently I received a little income for a few years (long since dried up) from the publisher for sales of one of them (publishers typically pay only between 5% & 15% of nett book sales so not very much) but then at some point joined an organisation called "Authors' Licensing & Collecting Society" (ALCS) which is a not-for-profit membership organisation started cc 1977 by writers for the benefit of writers. They seek to make sure that authors receive the money they're entitled to from all over the world for 'secondary uses' of their work - such as photocopies, cable

Since joining ALCS I've received about £100.00 each year from them & each time have pondered who might still be "using" my books for I felt that by now they must surely have lost much of their relevance. I assumed it must be a University which deep down gave me a sort of glow of pride & satisfaction that someone, somewhere might still find value in what I write a quarter of a century ago!

Thus a couple of weeks ago upon receipt of this year's sum I contacted ALCS to see if they could tell me who was still using my material. Their helpful & informative reply caused my remaining pride in my past works to be punctured! They said that the royalty payments I received were not specifically for my works but in effect a proportion of all the money that they managed to collect on behalf of all its members which originated from public domain royalties or from money received without any data indicating to who the royalties relate, but as I had books registered with them I was entitled to a proportion.

So maybe no-one anywhere is still reading what I wrote but I think it will be more comfortable to continue to think that someone somewhere still refers to my tomes and copies parts off even if they don't and haven't for a quite a long time.

Millhouses - the transport scene

Following on with Millhouses history and the earlier picture from Gill Llewellyn - herewith a different slant.

Nowadays we are familiar with the term 'transport interchange' as a hub where passengers can change their form of transport. For much of the 20th century

Millhouses was exactly this - with tram, bus, and train links. Until 1962 trams were a regular part of village life - indeed just up Abbeydale Road South was Millhouses Terminus where trams used this loop to change direction back to the city. The shops are still there on Terminus Road, and also the Wagon and Horses opposite; the green space in the middle of the loop is now Ranulf Court.

The railway station was just down Archer Road - the ticket office was astride the bridge and apart from a regular stopping service passengers could get excursions to the seaside - the most popular destination being Skegness. The station was opened in 1870 and called Ecclesall: it then became Ecclesall and Mill

Houses and finally Ecclesall in station was and derelict in the Millhouses and 1932. The closed in 1968 remained until demolition 1980s, though the stationmaster's house survives as a private home.

Millhouses engine shed was built in 1901 by the Midland Railway, as Ecclesall engine shed, to serve the Midland Main Line between London, St Pancras and Sheffield. It was used mainly to stable and service passenger and mixed-traffic locomotives for use on trains from the nearby Sheffield Midland Station. The shed was built down from Millhouses station and was easily viewed by train-spotters who would expect to see named engines of the Jubilee and later Royal Scot classes. The shed closed on January 1st 1962

After closure the building was then extended and converted into a warehouse by the Consolidated Pneumatic Tool Co. who bought out Frank Guylee who had a factory nearby where they made Jacob's chucks. When it became empty the owner (by then, our own Ted Cordran) put it up for sale/redevelopment. The shed yards were by now part of Tesco's. Ted says "When we closed in 2000 I sold the engine sheds to a `land banker` as there were all sorts of access and other issues. That is why it has taken so long for the site to be developed".

By 2013 the ex-engine sheds were now well and truly trashed though the graffiti was quite unique including some by the now quite famous Phlegm*.

*Phlegm is a Welsh-born Sheffield-based muralist and artist who first developed his illustrations in self-published comics. The name 'Phlegm' came from one of the four temperaments in ancient Greek medicine; blood, yellow bile, black bile, and phlegm

The building was demolished in 2015, and Ted Cordran, who worked in the shed for twenty years, tells me that a new and upmarket retirement home (appropriately call Jacobs Gate) is being built on the site.

So, coming full circle, Millhouses still thrives and is well served by buses. The houses built alongside the railway shed yard, for the railwaymen, on Marriot Road, are still very much lived in, but there is now little else remaining to remind us of the village's transport heritage.

Sheffield Coronavirus Update

From The Star

A medical expert has reassured the public after it emerged Sheffield has the highest number of confirmed coronavirus cases in England per 100,000 of the population - and said the city is “really lucky” thanks to the “phenomenal” amount of testing taking place.

A doctor at Sheffield's Royal Hallamshire Hospital speaks of 'encouraging' signs in battle against coronavirus and has thanked people for their rainbow pictures, which she says are keeping spirits up during the coronavirus crisis

We still get the message - STAY AT HOME

PS

As a consequence of coronavirus pandemic I have chaired an international medical meeting on Zoom. I did it from my study and a very cheerful moment was when one of the participants spotted that my model railway layout was in the background and wanted a closer look. Everyone left the meeting happy!

Here's a photo which should raise a smile! It's from two years ago following our annual visitation from kind Muslim friends bearing scrumptious chocolate cake. Abigail and Tom McNeill certainly appreciated it to the full! I myself enjoyed a visitation from the McNeill family on Easter Sunday afternoon and it was great to wave and smile from a suitable distance! Of course Susanna has joined the family since that photo was taken. Ruth has volunteered to join the radiography staff at Rotherham Hospital on a part-time basis, so I'm sure would appreciate our thoughts and prayers at this time. Alisdair is continuing his work at home as well as taking a share of child minding and no doubt some home tutoring duties.

It's sad to think that we shall miss seeing our Muslim friends with their chocolate cake this year. I was also suffering Hancock Simnel Cake deprivation symptoms on Sunday, until my good friend Sue Sturch appeared, bearing some home made Simnel Cake. No doubt we are all grateful to our kind friends who keep in touch at this time, by whatever means.

My thoughts and prayers are with all the Millhouses friends during this time when we can't meet together, but to echo the words of Vera Lynn and, more recently, Her Majesty the Queen. "We'll meet again...."!

Countries and health services badly affected by Covid 19 - (Italy, Spain, USA at time of going to press)

Life under Lockdown

No, I'm not talking about the restrictions we are all subject to at the moment due to coronavirus, but life in the prison to which most residents of Sheffield are sent if given a custodial sentence.

Inspired by Barry's account of his voluntary role at Rowan School, I thought you might be interested to hear a bit about my role as a member of the Independent Monitoring Board at Her Majesty's Prison Moorland, which is located about 37 miles from here , not far from Epworth Rectory where the Wesleys grew up. It houses just under 1000 men in seven house blocks, of which two are exclusively for sex offenders.

Every prison in the country has its own Independent Monitoring Board: we are a group of volunteers appointed by the Prisons Minister to try to ensure that prisoners are treated humanely and fairly, and that they are being prepared for resettlement after release. We have the right to draw keys enabling us to access all parts of the prison. In normal times, we undertake a number of different duties on a rota basis.

Each week one of us drops in unannounced on a few adjudications where a governor hears cases of prisoners reported for breaking prison rules, for example fighting, assaulting an officer, possessing drugs or a weapon, brewing alcohol , or having a mobile phone. The Governor decides whether the prisoner is guilty, and awards an appropriate sanction. The IMB member satisfies him/herself that the process is being conducted fairly. The same member visits every prisoner in the Segregation Unit and takes up any concerns they wish to raise.

Another duty is to attend Segregation Reviews, which take place twice a week: every prisoner in the Segregation Unit must be reviewed at a minimum 72 hours after admission, and then every 14 days thereafter, with the aim of determining whether he still needs to be segregated or whether he could return to his normal cell in a house block and enjoy association with other prisoners. Each review is conducted by a governor, and there must be a representative from prison health care in attendance. The governor has to get the IMB member's signature to confirm they are satisfied the review has been conducted properly.

Another member visits a range of different locations in the prison, which we plan on a rota so that we get round everywhere at least once a quarter: these locations include the house blocks, which we usually try and visit when prisoners are getting their lunch; education classes; the various workshops; the gymnasium; the kitchens; the healthcare centre; the visitors' centre, and the chaplaincy. Sometimes we go in at the weekend, and attend a service.

Another thing we do is deal with Applications from prisoners who write to us with their concerns and grievances. We look into these, which may involve speaking to prison staff, and then usually see the prisoner to explain the outcome, as well as sending them a written response.

If there is an incident in the prison serious enough for the Command Suite to be opened (such as a prisoner holding a hostage in his cell, or "concerted indiscipline"- what most of us call a riot) the IMB is informed and we try to send one member to the command suite and another to the scene of the incident. Our role is to be satisfied that order is restored with the minimum necessary force. If any prisoners are injured, we try to speak to them to establish how this has happened, and that they have been seen by a health professional. We are also informed if there is a death of anyone in custody, even if it takes place in hospital from natural causes.

Once a month we have a meeting of the Board, which is usually attended by the Governor or his Deputy. This gives us the opportunity to hear from him any updates about the regime, and to raise any concerns we have resulting from our rota visits or applications.

Each year we are required to write an Annual Report which is sent to the Prisons Minister, and published on line.

Currently life in prison, like life everywhere else, has been disrupted by Coronavirus. Visiting has been stopped, and most prisoners are no longer allowed to go to their education classes or their workshops, unless they are involved in food preparation. They are having to stay in their cells for most of the day, with a few at a time allowed out for showers and exercise so that social distancing can be maintained. The IMB members are not able to go in at present, so we are trying to monitor as best we can, receiving daily bulletins via email and telephoning prison staff , including phoning in to Segregation Reviews. We are holding our board meetings via teleconference. It is not ideal, but the best we can do under the circumstances.

The board at Moorland should have 16 members, but we currently have only 6 , so we are kept pretty busy. If you think this is something you might like to volunteer for, I would be happy to tell you more about it, answer any questions , and explain how to apply.

EASTER TIME - THE GARDEN TOMB

At Easter time my thoughts usually return to my visit to Israel, way back in 1997. I look through my photos and mementos, particularly a little illustrated booklet describing the Garden Tomb. It is subtitled 'An Empty Tomb and a Garden of Risen Hope'. Traditionally the site of Jesus' tomb is believed to be enshrined within the Church of the Holy Sepulchre in central Jerusalem. However, the discovery in the 19th century of an ancient burial site beneath some rough wasteland adjacent to an area of strangely shaped rocks known as Skull Hill, led finally to the excavation of the whole site and the discovery of a man made rock tomb very much like the description in the gospels of Jesus' burial place. There is even a groove in front of it for a rolling stone to close up the entrance but inevitably the stone has disappeared.

It was General Gordon, staying in a friend's house on Jerusalem's city wall around 1883, who noticed the skull-like appearance of the adjacent rocky structure and wondered if that was the site of Golgotha. In the 1890s, through the efforts of some British Christians who raised funds and formed a Garden Tomb Association, the old burial site area was purchased, excavated and transformed into a beautiful garden, a pilgrimage site for future generations of Christians. The enthusiastic and informative guide who took our party round the garden did not claim that this was definitely the site of Christ's tomb as that can never be known, but it is presented as an excellent 'visual aid'.

I have to say that I personally found it a very effective one, much more so than the ornate shrine within the Church of the Holy Sepulchre.

My booklet concludes, 'HE IS NOT HERE, FOR HE IS RISEN.

Request for Knitters to get cracking with their Needles for the NHS

For the Knit and Natter Group or anyone else who' like to know something to show appreciation to the NHS from David and Vera's friend Ann Clarke.

I hope if you are in self-isolation with another person you are still speaking to one another and if you are on your own you are able to speak to someone else each day.

If any of you have idle fingers, we have been given a new challenge - The Cardiac Intensive Care Unit at Chesterman at the Northern General Hospital are asking for knitters to make matching pairs of hearts. These are to give to bereaved relatives of those in intensive care who are not allowed visitors. One heart is kept by the patient during their stay in the hospital - if they pass away the other matching heart will be sent to their relatives in a card expressing that their loved one has the 'other heart', they will then share something tangible that links them to their relative.

You just need a small amount of pink or red DK wool and old size 9 needles. Here are the instructions. (I hope they mean something to someone! David!)

HEARTS

KNITTING PATTERNS BY AMANDA BERRY

fluffandfuzz@googlemail.com
www.fluffandfuzz.weebly.com

YARN + NOTIONS

Needles:

- A pair of 3.75mm straight knitting needles (US 5)

Notions:

- A small amount of toy filling to stuff the heart
- A darning or tapestry needle to sew the knitted pieces together
- A stitch holder

Yarn:

Pink

Less than 10g of DK yarn per heart

NOTES

Finished size: The finished heart is approximately 6.5cm high x 6.5cm wide.

Work flat: All pieces are knitted flat (back and forth) on a pair of straight knitting needles.

Tension: The tension is approximately 22 sts x 28 rows for a 10cm x 10cm square in stockinette stitch on 3.75mm needles. Don't worry too much about tension for this pattern.

Casting on: Unless otherwise specified, use the long tail cast on for all pieces.

Sewing seams: Use mattress stitch to sew the seams.

ABBREVIATIONS

DK Double knitting or light worsted weight yarn

k Knit

k2tog Decrease: knit two stitches together.

m1 Increase: Make one stitch by picking up the horizontal bar between the needles and placing it on the left-hand needle. Knit into the back of this loop.

p Purl

Pull through to cast off
Cut the yarn leaving at least a 30cm tail. Thread the tail onto a darning needle and sew through the remaining sts on the knitting needle. Pull the sts off the knitting needle on to the yarn, gather together tightly and secure the yarn.

rep Repeat

ssk Decrease: slip the next stitch on the left needle knit-wise, then slip the next stitch on the left needle purl-wise. Take the left needle and knit through the front of the two slipped stitches on the right needle

st(s) Stitch(es)

WS Wrong side

[...] Repeat the sequence between the square brackets by the number indicated.

(.. sts) The number in round brackets at the end of the instruction indicates the number of stitches after working the row.

From Jenny Bywaters

Update on the Foodbank

jlbywaters (jlbywaters@aol.com)

People are still hungry in Gleadless Valley (now more than ever) so the Foodbank is very busy in socially distanced way. They are currently taking referrals by telephone on Monday to Thursday, and making up food parcels which are then being delivered. Tesco are still bringing them anything put in the crate in their Abbeydale Road store, so if you are able to get out for shopping, you can put your donation there instead of bringing it to church. Jock, the Foodbank organiser, can also buy essentials from a cash-and-carry, so if you are not able to shop, you could consider giving money instead. There are various ways to do this:

1. You can give on line via Virgin Money: <https://gleadlessvalley.foodbank.org.uk/give-help/donate-money/>
2. You can set up a standing order, and gift aid it if you are a taxpayer: there are templates for standing order forms and gift aid forms at <https://gleadlessvalley.foodbank.org.uk/give-help/donate-money/>
3. If you are able to take your exercise near a post-box, or get someone else to do so for you, you could just write them a cheque payable to Gleadless Valley Foodbank and post it to Gleadless Valley Methodist Church (Foodbank), Blackstock Road, Sheffield S14 1FT.
